

Since `CardSeqBase` and its derived classes are domain objects, JSON encoding and decoding are not part of their functionality due to the principle of separation of concerns.

The encoder and decoder can be used in the implementation of a persistence utility and can be injected into `CardSeqBase` for use in save and load methods.

